INDEX TO VOL. IV.

Apocryphal Gospels, the, 149. Various editions of the Apocrypha of the New Testament, 150. Thilo, 151. Tischendorf, 152. M. Nicolas' "Etudes sur les Evangiles Apocryphes," 152. What is meant by Apocrypha, 153. The Protevangelium, 156. Pseudo-Matthæus, 159. Repulsive misrepresentations of the infancy of Christ, 162. Evangelium Thomæ, 164. Arabic version of the Gospel of the Infancy, 165. History of Joseph the carpenter, 167. Gospel of Nicodemus, 173. Acta Pilati, 173. Descensus Christi ad Inferos, 175. Analogy between these writings and the legends of the saints, 178. Contrast between the apocryphal and the canonical Gospels, 180.

Barham, Dr. T. F., "One God the Father," noticed, 444.

Beard, Charles, B.A., author of article, "University College and Mr. Martineau," 120. "The Pilgrim Fathers: a Study of Puritan History," Part I., 362. Part II., 472.

Bowring, Sir John, LL.D., author of article, "Rammohun Roy and Hindoo Theism," 182.

Brady, W. Maziere, D.D., "The alleged Conversion of the Irish Bishops," noticed, 148.

C. K. P., author of article, "Liddon's Sermons," 589.

Canopus, the Bilingual Inscription of, 289. Discovery by Lepsius, 290. Contents of the inscription, 291. Correspondence with Daniel xi., 291. St. Jerome's commentary on the passage, 294. Soundness of the main principles of hieroglyphical interpretation, 295.

Capetown: "Memorial to the Bishop of Capetown from Members of the Church of England in Natal;" "Reply of the Bishop of Capetown;" "Reply of the Memorialists;" "Letter from the Bishop of Capetown to the Editor of the Contemporary Review;" reviewed, 34.

Carpenter, Mary, "The Last Days in England of the Rajah Rammohun Roy," reviewed, 182.

Chronology of Christ's Ministry, the, 297. The year of the Baptism, 298. The year of the Crucifixion, 302. The day of the Passover, A.D. 29, 304. The day of the Crucifixion, 305. Chronological table of the last days of Christ's life, 308. The Last Supper, 313. On driving the dealers out of the temple, 314. Table of chronology of Christ's ministry, 315.

Clayden, P. W., author of article, "Continuity in History, Morals and Religion," 572.

Clergyman of the Diocese of Salisbury, a, author of article, "The Bishop of Salisbury's Charge," 402.

CLERICAL PROFESSION, THE, 22. General dearth of ministers, 22. Disappearance of the sacerdotal idea, 23. Would larger incomes procure more ministers? 24. Compensations for limited income in the clerical profession, 26. Need of a higher estimate in society at large of the work of the minister, 28. Are ministers usually commonplace men? 29. Ministers to take part in lay occupations and amusements, 31. Value of a minister's social influence, 31. Need of perfect freedom, 32.

COBBE, FRANCES POWER, author of article, "The New Creed and the Old, in their Secular Results," Part I., 1. Part II., 241. "The Organization of Charity," 553.

Cobbe, F. P., "Hours of Work and Play," noticed, 443.

Colenso, J. W., D.D., Bishop of Natal, "Natal Sermons," noticed, 420.

CONTINUITY IN HISTORY, MORALS AND RELIGION, 572. Mr. Grove's address at Nottingham, 572. Continuity a doctrine rather than a theory, 573. Everything gradual, nothing spasmodic in Nature, 574. Doctrine of continuity as applying to the origin of man, 576. To other sciences than the natural, 578. To history, 581. To morals and religion, 584. To biblical religion, 586. Perpetual presence of the Creator in creation the reconciling doctrine of science and religion, 588.

Cook, F. C., M.A., "The Acts of the Apostles, with a Commentary," noticed, 144.

Cowper, B. H., "The Apocryphal Gospels, translated, with Notes," 438.

CREEDS: THE NEW CREED AND THE OLD, IN THEIR SECULAR RESULTS, 1. Religious ideas modify every department of human activity, 1. What are the probable secular consequences of present religious changes? 3. By "Old Creed" is meant the general system of prevailing theological belief, 4. Tendency of modern thought as regards the relation of this life to the life to come, 6. As regards ideas of earthly happiness, 10. As regards the conception of a perfect life, 16.

CREEDS: THE NEW CREED AND THE OLD, IN THEIR SECULAR RESULTS, Part II., 241. Apparently imminent change in the method of theology, 241. Some modification of the idea of an authoritative supernatural revelation inevitable, 241. Growing prevalence of the original over the traditional revelation, 242. What the results of the transition from a creed resting on authority to one resting on consciousness? 245. Method in which the religion of consciousness will propagate itself, 248.

CROSSKEY, H. W., author of article, "A Theological Cause Célèbre in Scotland," 382.

DAVIDSON, SAMUEL, D.D., LL.D., author of article, "The Gospel of Mark," 494.

Davidson, S., D.D., LL.D., "A Preface written for the English Edition of Fuerst's Hebrew and Chaldee Lexicon to the Old Testament," noticed, 148.

DRUMMOND, JAMES, B.A., author of article, "The Kingdom of God," 318.

Drummond, James, B.A., "Religion in Worldly Business," noticed, 148.

Drummond, R. B., B.A., author of article, "The Youth of Erasmus," 331.

E. V. N., author of article, "The Supernatural," 258.

"Ecce Deus," noticed, 442.

ERASMUS, THE YOUTH OF, 331. Birth of Erasmus, 331. Circumstances of his parents, 332. Sent to school, 333. Colloquy on Youthful Piety, 335. Death of his mother, 340. At school at Bolduc, 341. Attempts to force him into the monastic life, 342. Takes the cowl, 346. Early literary efforts, 347. Enters the household of the Bishop of Cambray, 349.

FIELD, Horace, "Heroism," noticed, 438.

Ginsburg, Christian D., "The Massoreth ha-Massoreth of Elias Levita," &c., noticed, 425.

H. A. B., author of article, "Our Position, by a Unitarian Layman," 227.
Ham, J. Panton, "The Idea of the Church," 442.
Heyworth, Lawrence, "Glimpses at the Origin, Mission and Destiny of Man," 443.
Higginson, E., "Six Essays on Inspiration, Revealed Religion and Miracles," noticed, 141.
Hoelemann, H. G., "Neue Bibelstudien," noticed, 142.
Hopps, J. Page, "Family Prayers," noticed, 147.
Hurro Lall Roy, B.A., "Man the Son of God;" "Lecture on Unity and Variety in Religion," reviewed, 182.

K., author of article, "The Bilingual Inscription of Canopus," 289.
Kennard, R. B., M.A., "The Unity of the Material and Spiritual Worlds," noticed, 148.
Kenny, Courtney, author of article, "The Law of Blasphemous Libel," 207.
Kingdom of God, the, 318. What is the kingdom of God, 318. Theory propounded in Ecce Homo, 319. Does Christ often call himself King? 321. Regal language used figuratively in the N.T., 322. Inscription over the cross, 323. The kingdom of God the reign of God in the human soul, 326. Accordance with this idea of the language of the N.T., 327. The kingdom of God also the ideal society of the future, 329.
Kirkus, W., LL.B., author of article, "Morality and Creeds," 534.

Lepsius, R., "Das bilingue Dekret von Kanopus," &c., reviewed, 289.
Libel: The Law of Blasphemous Libel, 207. Connection between Christianity and enactments punishing inquiry, 207. Judgment of Prisot, C. J., 208—of Sir M. Hale in Rex v. Taylor, 209. Regina v. Rudd, 211. Rex v. Woolston, 211. Annett's case, 212. Paine's Age of Reason, 213. Davidson's case, 213. Statute of William III., 214—repealed as regards Unitarians, 53 George III., 214. Continental law on this subject, 215. Briggs v. Huntley, 216. Is it wise to restrain opinions by law? 217. Emlyn's case, 219. Danger of advocating Unitarian views, 220. Rex v. Keach, 221. General uncertainty of the practical application of the law, 223. Fear of possible persecution not groundless, 225.
Liddon, H. P., M.A., "Christ's Welcome to the Penitent;" "Some Words for God," reviewed, 589.
Liddon's Sermons, 589. Mr. Liddon's position at Oxford, 589. Great fame as a preacher, 590. Similarity of passages with "Manresa, or the Spiritual Exercises of St. Ignatius," 591.
Logos, the Doctrine of the, 445. Effect upon the doctrine of the presumed unauthenticity of the fourth Gospel, 445. Is the author of the Gospel—if not St. John—an impostor? 446. Mr. Tayler's view of the relation of the doctrine to the fourth Gospel, 450. The doctrine the key-stone of Christian belief, 453. Difficulty of enforcing the claims of religion from a purely subjective base, 454. The recorded beliefs of mankind the materials of scientific induction, 456. Doctrine of the Logos combines the religious conceptions peculiar to Aryan and Semitic races, 457. Providential action in this combination, 460. Conception satisfies the conditions of religious trust, and answers to the results of science, 460.
Lunn, J. C., "A Sermon on Bribery," noticed, 148.

Mackay, R. W., M.A., "The Eternal Gospel," 440.

Madge, Thomas, "Family Prayers," noticed, 147. Ibid., 2nd ed., 444. "Discourses," 435.

MARK, THE GOSPEL OF, 494. Notices of the person to whom it is attributed, 494. Relation of Mark to the second Gospel, 497. Analysis of contents, 500. Relation of Mark to Matthew and Luke, 505. Characteristics, 518. Time and place of writing, 522. Integrity, 524. Persons for whom the evangelist wrote, and his object in compiling a Gospel, 529. Style and diction, 530. Quotations from the Old Testament, 532.

Martineau, James, "Endeavours," 4th ed., noticed, 443.

MARTINEAU, R., M.A., author of notice of "Quarry's Dissertations on Genesis," 137—of notice of Ginsburg's "Massoreth ha-Massoreth of Elias Levita," 425.

Miller, Josiah, M.A., "Our Hymns and Hymn Writers," noticed, 146.

MISSIONARY WORK IN INDIA, 65. What we have done in India, 65. Religion in India dead, and we have taught no new one, 66. No true consolation for the failure to be found in the analogy of the apostles, 68. What the missionaries are, 69. Great missionary meeting at Lahore, 71. Result of missionary work a practical multiplication of castes, 73. Instance in the vicinity of Meerut, 73. Want of knowledge necessary to deal with a cultivated people, 75. Ignorance of Christianity, 79. Doctrine of everlasting punishment, 80. Missionary must regard himself as only a messenger of Christ, 81.

Moore, G., "The First Man and his Place in Creation," noticed, 143.

MORALITY AND CREEDS, 534. Creeds cannot be destroyed, 534. Amount of men's belief tested, not by their words, but their actions, 535. Balance between beliefs a very common state of mind, 537. Immorality of being without a creed, 538. Characteristics of a justifiable creed, 539. Way to construct a creed, 541. Re-examination and consequent change of creed, 546. Artificial means of preventing this, 547. Effects of doctrinal trust-deeds, 548.

Morrison, T., M.A., "The Acts of the Apostles and the Epistles of Paul," &c., noticed, 145.

Mozley, J. B., B.D., "On Miracles," reviewed, 258.

NATAL: THE BISHOP OF NATAL AND THE CHURCH OF SOUTH AFRICA, 34. Effect of Dr. Colenso's criticisms on the Old Testament, 35. Are his opinions lawful within the Church of England? 36. Variety of opinions held by Churchmen in England, 40. The Church of England a legal compromise, of which the terms are settled by Parliament, 42. Miss Coutts' protest, 42. Sacerdotal pretensions of Dr. Gray, 44. Great authorities on behalf of Dr. Colenso's alleged heresies, 46. Dr. Stanley and Dr. Colenso, 48. Dr. Thirlwall, 51. Dr. Harold Browne, 54. Object of the sacerdotal party to set up a Church of South Africa, 56. Article in "Fraser" on Ritualism, 58. Postscript, Lord Romilly's judgment, 61.

NEALE, E. V., M.A., author of article, "The Doctrine of the Logos," 445.

"New Catholic Church, the," noticed, 444.

ORGANIZATION OF CHARITY, THE, 553. Insufficiency of English charity, which encourages dependence, yet does not relieve misery, 553. Extirpation of pauperism, 554. Class of incapables, 555. Increasing separation between rich and poor, 557. Method of co-operation among charities, 559. Not ecclesiastical, 560. Union of Liverpool charities, 561. Sphere of Government, 562. Dr. Stallard on Jewish pauperism in London, 564. Organized system of relief, 566. General operation of the Poor-law in London, 567. Bearing of strikes upon Poor-law relief, 569.

OSBORN, R. D., author of article, "Missionary Work in India," 65.

PAUL, C. KEGAN, B.A., author of notice of "Whately's Life," 132.

PILGRIM FATHERS, THE: A STUDY OF PURITAN HISTORY, I., 362. The English Reformation and its consequences, 363. Nonconformists as distinguished from Separatists, 365. Church at Scrooby, 366. Austerfield and Scrooby, 367. William Brewster, 369. William Bradford, 370. John Robinson, 370. Emigration to Holland, 373. State of Holland, 374. Reasons for leaving Holland, 376. Fix upon Virginia, 377. Commercial basis of the emigration, 378. Leave Holland, 379. Parting counsels, 381. Final voyage to America, 382.

PILGRIM FATHERS, THE: A STUDY OF PURITAN HISTORY, II., 472. First effects of the discovery of America, 473. Abortive attempts of English colonization, 474. The Virginia Companies, 475. New England, 476. The Red Indian, 477. Arrival of the Mayflower, 477. Compact of the emigrants, 478. Carver, Winslow, Standish, 479. Landing at Plymouth, 480. Epidemic, 481. Arrival of the Fortune, 482. Scarcity of food, 483. Subsequent history of the colony, 484. Robert Cushman's sermon, 485. Character of New-England Puritanism, 488. Self-government, 489. Theory of Church and State, 489. Offences of New England against religious liberty, 491. General aspect of life in New England, 492. Conclusion, 493.

Pinnock, W. H., LL.D., "The Law of the Rubric," noticed, 148.

POSITION: OUR POSITION, BY A UNITARIAN LAYMAN, 227. Disruptions in sect or party not to be healed, 227. Two distinct tendencies at work among us, 228. Presbyterianism drifting into Unitarianism, 228. And a more definite Unitarian movement, 229. United in common work, but tending to separation in quiet times, 230. Controversy in British and Foreign Unitarian Association, 231. Proposed basis of a new Representative Assembly, 232. Plea for such a bond of union founded on the matter of property, not tenable, 232. No Association can represent the spiritual unity of all Christian hearts, 234. Similarity of belief essential to common worship, 235. Idea of an Association embracing churches of different belief visionary, 236. What could be the practical work of such an Association? 237. The Unitarian name, 238.

PRESBYTER ANGLICANUS, author of article, "The Bishop of Natal and the Church of South Africa," 34. Notice, "Natal Sermons," 420.

QUARRY, John, M.A., "Genesis and its Authorship; two Dissertations," noticed, 137.

RAMMOHUN ROY AND HINDOO THEISM, 182. Movement in India in favour of a philosophical theism, 183. Views of the new reformers bolder than those of Rammohun Roy, 185. Rammohun Roy's synopsis of the Veda books, 187. His unwillingness to be questioned on matters of religion, 188. Letter of introduction which he brought to Bentham, 190. Miss Carpenter's "Last Days," 192. Extracts from writings by members of the Brahmo Somaj, 194.

SALISBURY: THE BISHOP OF SALISBURY'S CHARGE, 402. Personal character of the Bishop, 403. The Catholic system, and the Bishop's adhesion to it, 404. Language in regard to Bishops Cotton and Grey, 406. Sacerdotal doctrine the centre part of the Charge, 406. The Catholic, the Anglican and the Protestant position, 408. Doctrine of the Sacrament, 410. Of Absolution, 415. Wider issue involved in all these controversies, 418.

Schenkel, Dr., "The Character of Jesus portrayed; translated by Furness," noticed, 434.

SHARPE, SAMUEL, author of article, "The Chronology of Christ's Ministry," 297.

Shipley, Orby, M.A., "Tracts for the Day," noticed, 444.

XUM

"Social Duties, by a Man of Business," reviewed, 553.
Stallard, J. H., M.B., "London Pauperism among Jews and Christians," reviewed, 553.
SUPERNATURAL, THE, 258. Science and Religion often look at Divine Power from opposite sides, 259. Mr. Mozley's argument, 259. Proves too much, 260. Refutation of the assumed invariableness of natural order, 261. Possible reply of the philosopher, 265. An inconsistency between the positive and negative half of Mr. M.'s argument, 266. Whence the power of predicting phenomena? Mr. Mozley's theory and objection to it, 267. The continuity of natural action, 269. Working without means the essence of the miraculous, 271. Nothing in the nature of will, so far as known to us, to remove the presumption against miracles, 273. Causes of the general disposition to ascribe miraculous power to God, 273. First, confused ideas of the origin of natural phenomena, 274. Second, application to the Creator of modes of action proper to the creature, 275. Third, the power of the imagination exercised through language, 279. Are we not in danger of losing faith in the personal being of God? 280. Argument from the evidential character of miracles, 283. Idea of revelation adapted to modern thought, 285.

TAYLER, J. J., B.A., author of article, "The Apocryphal Gospels," 149. "Tischendorf's Edition of the Vatican N. T.," 351.
Tayler, J. J., B.A., "An Attempt to ascertain the Character of the Fourth Gospel," &c., noticed, 429.
THEOLOGICAL CAUSE CELEBRE IN SCOTLAND, A, 382. Prevalence of secret heresy in Scotland, 382. Firm resistance of the Free Church to heresy, 384. The Rev. W. C. Smith, 385. His Lectures on the Sermon on the Mount, 386. Condemned by Committee of Presbytery, 387. Questions asked and answered, 388. Minuteness of the question at issue, 391. Mr. Smith's theory of the relation between the Old and New Testament, 391. Dr. Fairbairn's criticism, 392. Dr. Buchanan's, 394. Vote of the Presbytery upon Mr. Smith's answers to the questions, 396. Final judgment of the Assembly, 398.
Thilo, J. C., "Codex Apocryphus Novi Testamenti," reviewed, 149.
THOM, J. H., author of article, "Archbishop Whately and the Life of Blanco White," 82.
Tischendorf, C. F., "De Evv. Apocryphorum Origine et Usu," 149. "Evangelia Apocrypha," reviewed, 149. "Novum Testamentum Vaticanum," &c., reviewed, 351.
TISCHENDORF'S EDITION OF THE VATICAN NEW TESTAMENT, 351. Text not directly taken ex ipso codice, 351. Various collations of the MS., 352. Mai's edition, 353. Buttmann, Alford, 354. Tischendorf's account of his own collation, 355. Account of the MS., 357. Comparison between the Vatican and the Sinaitic MSS., 360.

"Unity of Truth, the," noticed, 443.
"Universal Church, the," noticed, 145.
UNIVERSITY COLLEGE AND MR. MARTINEAU, 120. Statement of facts, 121. Religious neutrality the characteristic of University College, 122. Necessary qualifications of a Professor of Mental Philosophy, 123. Mr. Martineau's aptitude for the chair, 124. Mr. Grote's motion, 125. How would this principle have worked in England in past times? 126. Theological equilibrium of the College not to be disturbed, 127. Use of the Unitarian pretext, 128. Real difficulty philosophical, 129. Attempt to set up a philosophical orthodoxy, 130. True complaint that the ablest candidate has not been chosen, 131.

WHATELY: ARCHBISHOP WHATELY AND THE LIFE OF BLANCO WHITE, 82. Letter of Archbishop Whately to Mr. Fellowes, reflecting upon the sanity of Blanco White and the character of his biographer, 82. Death of B. White and his last moments, 82, 83. Dr. Whately demands his own letters to B. White, 84. His objection to the Memoir conveyed through Rev. H. Bishop, 85. Reply of Mr. Thom, addressed to Dr. Whately, 86. Reply of Dr. Whately, 88. Publication of Blanco White's Life, 90. Letters of Dr. Whately to Mr. Fellowes, 92. Second letter (now republished by Miss Whately), with her omissions supplied, 94. Correspondence of Mr. Thom with Mr. Fellowes, 96. Mr. Thom's letter to Dr. Whately, 97. This correspondence, upon the advice of Mr. J. S. Mill, not published, 103. Charges against B. White's biographer answered, 104. Calumniating the Archbishop by accusations of neglecting and deserting B. White, 104. Publishing the private memoranda of a man of unsound mind, 107. Indecent exposure of private memoranda, 110. Extracts from unpublished journal of B. White, 114. Letter of B. White to a clergyman in the employ of the Archbishop, 117. Conclusion, 119.

Whately, E. J., "Life and Correspondence of Richard Whately, late Archbishop of Dublin," noticed, 82, 132.

Williams, Rowland, D.D., "Broadchalke Sermon Essays," 439.

WRIGHT, JOHN, B.A., author of article, "The Clerical Profession," 22.

Wright, W., LL.D., "Syriac Apocrypha of the N.T.," reviewed, 149.